Boston Wool Market.

BOSTON, April 22.—There is a fair demand for wool for present wants of manufacturers, but there is no disposition to make contracts ahead or to anticipate their wants. Considerable supplies of fine foreign wool are now due, and with installments from California near at hand, manufacturers will be able to supply their wants until the first installments of the new western clip. California holders are still asking prices above the views of eastern buyers, and no large receipts of the new clip are expected for some weeks yet.

Suit Against the Union Pacific Railroad.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Initiatory steps were taken yesterday in a suit in the Supreme Court of this city in which M. M. Simpson is plaintiff and the Union Pacific Railroad Company, J. Gould, Sidney Dillon and others, defendants, to compel the latter, as stockholders, to make payment of subscriptions to stock to meet the claims of creditors. Plaintiff asks for an injunction to restrain the transfer by responsible parties of the record to persons not able to respond for sales of stock. Only $10,000,000 is involved in the suit. Complainant alleges that the Company has borrowed some $10,000,000 in money on their income bonds, and made them a lien on all their property after the first mortgage and land grant bonds, but neglected to record the deed of trust by which the lien was created, and now it proposes to borrow $16,000,000 more and to give a mortgage that shall cut off lenders on the income bonds, who supposed they held a deed of trust to secure their loans.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.

[From the St. Louis Republican, April 8.]

Recent advices from Texas give the details of a terrible crime committed in that State by a young Tennessean. Among the passengers on the stage, running between Fort Worth and Hillsboro, a few days ago, were Charles Gentry, a son of the late Hon. Meredith P. Gentry, and a wealthy Missourian, named Shire. Gentry evinced considerable anxiety to [illegible] intimate relations with Shire, but his advances were in every instance repulsed. By a sudden change of tactics, Gentry attempted to bring about an altercation, but failed also in this, as the other party seemed determined to avoid trouble. Finally, an insulting epithet and blow in the mouth brought the Missourian to his feet with the remark that if Gentry was waiting for a fight he could step out on the road. The driver was ordered to stop and the two dropped behind the stage. A shot was heard and the team dashed off at full speed. One of the passengers looked back and saw Gentry, pistol in hand, bending over Shire, who was stretched upon his back in the road. When the team had run half a mile the passenger drew a bead on the driver and threatened to shoot him through the head unless he turned and went back to Shire's assistance. When they reached Shire he was breathing his last. An ugly hole in his temple told how the deed of blood had been done. His pocketbook, which was known to have contained $3,300 in currency, and his traveling-satchel were not to be found. Gentry had fled, after having robbed the person of his victim. Though pursuit was made soon afterward, the young murderer succeeded in escaping into Mexico.

Gentry was born and reared on Stone River, about 9 miles from Nashville. He went to Texas about a year and a half ago, and had been leading a wild, desperate life.

A [illegible] account, similar to that given above, was made to the Dallas (Tex.) Commercial by the [illegible] who witnessed the tragedy. He expresses the opinion that Gentry knew Shire had a large sum of money about him, and that the double crime was planned before the stage left Fort Worth, and that the driver was an accomplice.

HORSES' DEFENSE AGAINST PUMAS.—To show how closely like reason is animal instinct, he related an anecdote in relation to self-protection in animals. A few years ago a party of travelers were exploring Paraguay, where the plains abound in horses and the forests in pumas and other wild animals. They saw a mare with a pair of twin colts, and stealing near them were a pair of pumas, while at a little distance were a herd of horses, who saw [illegible]—and were preparing for battle. The stallions came to the front, and the mares went to the rear and to feeding, as if for a ruse. Soon a shrill neigh came from the stallion general, and in a moment the whole troop charged down on the pumas, surrounded them, but left a little space, out of which the mare and her colts slipped away and reached the other mares. The pumas then attacked the horses, but they turned heels and struck them right and left, keeping up a circular movement, dealing heavy blows in turn, and finally laying the pumas dead. Call this instinct, if you will, but it is instinct nearly allied to reason. Man is made wiser and better by studying the habits of his domestic animals.—Hon. J. A. Willard.

BRITISH FINANCES.—Advices from London, April 16, say: In the House of Commons this evening, Stafford Northcote, Chancellor of the Exchequer, submitted the annual budget. The total gross income for the year ending March 31, 1874, amounted to £77,335,000, exceeding the lowest estimates £3,574,000. Gross expenditures for the year, including the payment of the Geneva award, but not the expenses of the Ashantee war, £76,466,000. Excess of expenditures over the estimates £1,156,500. Estimated revenues for the current financial year, £77,995,000; estimated expenditures, £72,530,000; leaving a surplus of £5,492,000. These estimates are virtually based on Gladstone's figures.

ONE OF BUTLER'S GAMES TO BE SPOILED.—When the Simmons contest was waging, there were boasts from many of Butler's friends that he was able to obtain the private dispatches to members of the House before those themselves had read them. To-day, the House, on motion of Mr. Pierce, of Boston, passed a resolution aimed directly at Butler, charging that certain disreputable persons had been able to secure dispatches in the manner named, and directing the architect of the Capitol to inclose the telegraph stands so that outsiders could not hear the instruments.—*Wash. THE SANBORN CASE.

A Washington dispatch, of April 16th, has the following:

John L. Hendry, attorney at Leavenworth, Kansas, narrated to the Ways and Means Committee this morning his experience in trying from 1870 to 1872, to get a contract from the Treasury Department to collect unpaid taxes from the Kansas Pacific Railroad, from which it appears that he spent over a year's time and several thousand dollars in an unsuccessful attempt. Boutwell, to whom he first applied, referred him to Banfield, who took his papers, on which the charges against the road were based. Meantime Boutwell went out of office. Witness then called on the President, who promised to see Richardson. Witness next saw Richardson, who said he knew all about the case. Banfield said it was a clear case, and a great deal of money in it, and he discussed the terms of the contract, demurring to the 50 per cent. proposed by witness, as too much, and reduced him to 50 per cent. on the first $100,000, and 25 per cent. on the balance. Banfield didn't make out the contract, however. Witness called on General Butler, having learned in some way that he could assist him in getting the contract, but Butler said he could not be of any use to him.

Hendry said General Butler said if it was not so small a thing, he could get it so quick it would make his head swim; but, as it was, he could do some good; but he said he would introduce a bill to cover the case, which no member dare vote against. Butler said, being a member of Congress, he could receive no compensation. Every contract witness asked for had been since given to Sanborn. Witness testified with apparent reluctance to the conversation with Butler. The committee closed the investigation, reserving to Secretary Richardson and John D. O. Coughlan to appear if they desire.

MISS CARY'S LOVERS.—A New York letter says: "Victor Maurel, the baritone, whose splendid singing and magnetic presence have gained him greater fame in this country than ever Stanley won, sailed for Europe to-day. He had a farewell dinner, at which all the principal singers of the Strakosch troupe, Aimee and other musical celebrities, were present to bid him adieu. It is hinted, by the way, the reason Mr. Strakosch concluded to dispense with Maurel's services was that a strong attachment was springing up between the baritone and the contralto of the company, Miss Annie Louise Cary, all of which, if true, Miss Cary may be forgiven, inasmuch as almost every young woman in New York is in love with Maurel. But the trouble was, if the gossips may be believed, that the hard managerial heart of Strakosch has had for a long time a very tender feeling toward Miss Cary, and so he thought 'twere better that Maurel should breathe the air of la belle France! It has been on dit for weeks that Strakosch and Miss Cary had other than operatic engagements, but that lady has been engaged by Madame Grundy so many times that I should prefer Miss Cary's word for it rather than Madame's."

THE MASSACHUSETTS SENATORIAL ELECTION.—A Boston dispatch, of April 17th, contains the following:

After the thirty second ballot for Senator to-day, resulting: Dawes, 82; Hoar, 75, Curtis, 69, Adams, 19; Washburn, 10; Banks, 12, scattering, 8; a recess was taken, during which the Dawes men balloted for a candidate other than Dawes. The result was: Dr. Loring received 36, Washburn 14, and the rest scattering. The Dawes men made several propositions to the Hoar men—one for a union or for Loring, and one more ballot, and then to adjourn till to-morrow. All these propositions were rejected, and on the reassembling of the convention a motion to proceed at once to ballot was carried. After the roll was first called, then began an immediate change of votes, lasting nearly half an hour. The result was announced: Whole vote, 267, necessary to a choice, 134, Wm. B. Washburn, 150; Curtis, 64, Dawes, 26; Adams, 15, Loring, 4; Banks, 5; scattering, 3. The President declared the election of Washburn, and prorogued the convention.

CONVENTION OF SOUTHERN SURGEONS.—It is announced in the Southern newspapers that for the advancement of science, to rescue from oblivion the important medical and surgical facts developed within the armies of the Confederate States during the late war, it has been determined to call a convention of the Confederate surgeons, field and hospital, to meet in Atlanta, Ga., on the 20th of next May. The co-operation of the medical staff of the late Confederate navy is solicited.

A COAL MINE ON FIRE.

A FORTUNE EXPENDED IN ENDEAVORING TO STIFLE THE FLAMES.

[Special Cor. Chicago Tribune.]

WILKESBARRE, Pa. April 10.—The fire has been raging at the Kidder Slope since December 31st, and, during the ten weeks which have elapsed, it has spread through several acres of honeycomb mines, causing the earth to cave in in many places, and rendering it dangerous to all in the locality. There are several houses immediately over the fires and they are still standing, although their gardens have settled a dozen feet.

It has been supposed that the several hundred men who have been so faithfully battling with the devastating element were meeting with decided success, but to-day's action shows that the situation is as critical as ever; consequently, the Company has decided to abandon the present mode of subduing the fire, by drowning it with water, and to extinguish with steam. The cost to the Company has already been about $150,000, the expense for the last week alone being $40,000. The mine is the property of a corporation known as the Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Company, a recent combination of two large companies, and this enormous destruction of property is a serious damper on the new organization.

To-day the men were informed that nearly all work would be suspended until Monday next, thus temporarily throwing 500 men out of employment. Only 120 men will be at work during the stoppage. There will be four shifts a day, and thirty men on a shift, during the temporary suspension.

Preparations will be made as rapidly as possible to commence the new plan of operations. The fire is to be surrounded by stopping up with solid masonry all passages leading to it, and then extinguished by steam forced down from above. Thirty-two donkey engines will force large quantities through the brattice or stone walls. The proposed plan of sweating the fire out will probably be successful if the fire can be walled in, although fraught with much danger.

Many persons are constantly gratifying their curiosity to see the subterranean fires. Your correspondent made the descent through to the slope which has been sunk since the fire broke out,

AND FOUND THE PIT TRULY INFERNAL.

You enter through a ponderous door, and, after descending a steep flight of steps, are in the slope, a long, dark and wet passage-way so low that one cannot stand erect, but must crouch through for several hundred feet before the mines are reached.

Large numbers of men black with coal dust and greasy as their little lamps on their hats, are met and passed with tools and materials for carrying on the dangerous work. On reaching the mine, which is an abandoned working, we branch into a manhole reaching to the locality of the fire, and it is necessary to climb down a perpendicular plank for perhaps a dozen feet. This is the most dangerous part of the mine, as

THE SULPHUR FUMES ARE SO SUFFOCATING

As to render breathing almost impossible. A few steps further and a chamber is reached, one end of which is a red-hot mass of burning coal, which can be approached within a few feet; but a moment in there is sufficient, and persons unused to gas and heat must get back to the old working, where there is fresh air forced down by the men. During the long, weary weeks that the men have drank the air from the fan, it has stopped but once, and then only two minutes; but

LONG ENOUGH TO KILL ONE MAN

And prostrate the others, who were rescued before life was extinct.

Immense quantities of water have been poured into the mine, but do not remain there, as it found a lower level in the Empire mine, where it was pumped out at the rate of more than 1,000 gallons a minute. The Company have had such admirable arrangements for the safety of the men that but few accidents have occurred, only one or two proving fatal, a medical corps being constantly in attendance.

The fire at the old Baltimore mines is still raging, with no prospect of immediate success in extinguishing it.

INCREMATION NOTES.

PROF. BRUNETTI'S EXPERIMENTS DESCRIBED.

Sir Henry Thompson's views on cremation of the dead have been received with open arms by the commercial council of Vienna, who have adopted, by a considerable majority, a proposal to establish the requisite apparatus in the cemetery for use by those who prefer this method of disposing of their bodies. Gratz will probably follow the lead, and a society, having for its object the introduction of cremation into Switzerland has been established at Aarau, and has a long list of members.

In a late number of the Revue Scientifique, Professor Brunetti discourses on recent experiments which he has made in this direction. The operation embraces three periods—the heating of the body, its spontaneous combustion, and finally, the incineration of the soft parts and the calcination of the bones. During the first period, and about half an hour after the pile of wood within the furnace had been lighted, the combustion of the body commences. It gives off a large quantity of gas, and the management of the reverbatory parts of the furnace is of great importance. During the second period, the spontaneous combustion of the body takes place, which, M. Brunetti remarks, produces a profound impression on the mind—"Impressionne toujuor's l'esprit, et yous rend pensif."

If the wood has been well arranged, two hours suffice to produce complete carbonization. During the third period, the air holes being opened, the carbonized mass is collected and placed upon a fresh plate, and the heat is then urged to the utmost with a fresh supply of fuel. By this arrangement, at the expense of about 150 pounds of wood, complete incremation—that is to say, incineration of the soft parts and perfect calcination of the bones—may be effected in two hours. When the furnace has cooled, the cinders and bones are collected and deposited in a funeral urn. The professor found the body of a woman, aged thirty-five, weighing about 110 pounds, reduced to about 4½ pounds. A man of forty-five, weighing about 90 pounds, was reduced to less than 2½ pounds. Preliminary experiments in gas retorts, both closed and with free access of air, proved unsatisfactory.

An oblong furnace of fire-brick is required, with ten holes below, to regulate the intensity of the fire. The upper part should be hollowed to admit the coffin, on which a domed cover should be placed, by which the flames may be directed on the body. The body rests within the coffin on a metalic frame, fixed with thick iron wire.

The writer thinks that a petroleum furnace or a "Siemens" gas furnace would be admirably adapted for the purpose, and, like many others, would hail a return to the customs of the ancient Greeks and Romans in the disposal of the dead.

CLAIMS FOR DAMAGES.—Hurst agent of the National line, presented MacKenzie, agent of the French Transatlantic line, with a bill for over $16,000, for transportation of subsistence to the passengers and crew of the Europe, and for property lost or destroyed while effecting their rescue and transfer to the Greece. Hurst says the claim never would have been presented but for the manner in which the French Company and its officers attempted to slander and traduce men to whose timely assistance the safety of the passengers and crew of the Europe is ascribed.

Mr. David Dudley Field, who left New York last August on a tour round the world, is now in Australia, on a visit to his daughter, who is the wife of Gov. Musgrave, of South Australia. It shows the vast extension of submarine cables that it was telegraphed here last week that he had just sailed from Adelaide for Melbourne. He has already visited India and Ceylon, and expects on his return to visit China and Japan, coming back by San Francisco, and reaching home next summer.

THE TERRITORIES.

The Washington Territorial Temperance Alliance will meet in Olympia on the 13th day of May.

The residence of Mr. Miles at Seattle was entered by burglars last week who succeeded in getting away with $4 coin and a pistol.

The schooners Carolita and Louisa Simpson, late of the Shoalwater Bay oyster trade, have been dispatched to Mexican ports with cargoes.

A small vessel could find employment on the route from the Columbia river to Shoalwater Bay, Gray's Harbor, and return, semi-monthly.

The following vessels are loading at Port Blakely: Ship Brewster for Talcahuana, Gem of the Ocean, Amelia and Florida for San Francisco. Two more due.

The Seattle Dispatch says: J. W. Sweeney, Superintendent of the Puget Sound Telegraph Company, died at Port Townsend this (Tuesday) morning, at 9 o'clock, of heart disease, after a few days illness. He leaves a wife and large family to mourn his loss.

Chief Engineer Morris, who arrived at Seattle from Olympia on the 16th inst., is now engaged with assistants on Cedar river reviewing the line, and will soon determine the locating survey of the first section of the Seattle and Walla Walla road. Work will soon be commenced at the first section.

James Cochran was arrested at Olympia on Wednesday, on the complaint of Mr. Whitworth, and taken before A. R. Elder, J. P., and fined sixty dollars and costs for selling liquor to Indians. In default of payment he was committed to the county jail to be put at hard labor until he works out the amount of fine and costs.

The Bellingham Bay Mail says there are plenty of unoccupied sheep and cattle ranges on Orcas and other islands. The lands of the Nootsack, Samish, and Skagit valleys are yet comparatively unoccupied, and a practical man can easily select a stock ranch out of any of them. He can buy or lease at moderate terms first class farming lands on Whidby or Fidalgo Islands, and many other places in this vicinity.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Seattle and Walla Walla Railroad, at the company's office on Monday, the construction of five miles of the road was contracted for, to be paid entirely in stock—H. L. Yesler takes two miles and the Renton Coal Company three miles. The balance of the first section of fifteen miles will be under contract by the first of May. When the thing once gets started, it is certain to go ahead to ultimate completion.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The Colonist says the steamer would have at least 150 passengers for Cassiar.

The Otter was to sail on Wednesday, 22d inst., for Wrangel, with a large freight and a full complement of passengers.

Mr. Richard Hunter, of Victoria, has been appointed Custom office at the Boundary Line, fifty-five miles up Stickeen river.

The Colonist says an elderly man named Macher, disappeared from the Angel Hotel in Victoria last Thursday, and has not since been heard from.

A telegram from Clinton says Mr. E. Tynon of that place was struck with apoplexy or paralysis on Thursday of last week. There is little or no hope of his recovery.

A private telegram from Ottawa, received at Victoria on Wednesday, from one of the railroad surveyers, states that the parties for British Columbia would leave that place for Victoria about the 10th of April.

The bodies of an Indian woman and a little half-breed boy were found in the bush at the rear of the Douglas Pit, Nanaimo, on Wednesday of last week. The woman's throat had been cut from ear to ear and the child's temple had evidently been penetrated by a knife or dagger. Neither had been dead long. An inquest was to be held.

The bark Shooting Star, from San Francisco for Nanaimo, passed up the Straits on Wednesday. The ship Powhattan 22 days from Hilo, Sandwich Islands, and ship Commodore, 10 days from San Francisco for Port Towsend, passed up the same day. On Thursday, the ship Alvarez, 46 days from Valparaiso, bound for Port Gamble, was spoken. The bark Oak Hill, from San Francisco for Port Madison, was spoken on the same day.

An Ottawa dispatch of April 18th says: "The Bute Inlet Route has been definitely selected for the railway. The Engineer's report rejects all others. The line will run via Blue river and North Thompson, provided Hunter's survey is satisfactory. If not, it will run from Tete Juane Cache along the bend of the Fraser to Giscome Portage, thence to Bute Inlet and Esquimalt. Surveys will be completed this year. Work commences at Esquimalt and Bute Inlet in June or July.

A GROUNDLESS OBJECTION ANSWERED.

HILLSBORO, April 23 1874.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

An effort is making to work up in the public mind of this county a prejudice against J. M. Partlow, one of the Independent nominees for the Legislature, because of the short time of his residence in the county. Now, I do not see why two years' residence in the county is not a sufficient basis for claiming the suffrages of the voters, so far as residence is concerned. I have known Mr. Partlow for ten years and know him to be well worthy of the confidence of the people, and a man who will devote himself if elected, to the interests of the taxpayers and of the whole people. Yours, &c.,

A WASHINGTON COUNTY FARMER

NAPOLEON'S HEART.—When Napoleon the Great died at St. Helena, an English physician took charge of his heart, depositing it in a silver basin filled with water. Two tapers burned near it, but the custodian felt nervously anxious while watching it through the night, and did not sleep. In the silence of midnight he heard a rustling sound, then a plunge into the water, and a rebound on the floor—all occurring with the quickness of thought. He sprang from his bed, to see an enormous rat dragging the precious relic to his hole! But he saved it.

The congressional delegation from other States attending the funeral of Charles Sumner made a decidedly favorable impression upon those of our citizens who came in contact with them. Mr. Beck, of Kentucky, by his ready wit and genial qualities, proved himself the most companionable kind of a Democrat. None of these Congressmen seemed to have any particular liking for Gen. Butler, although Mr. Beck quaintly said that they (the Democrats) intended, "by the grace of God, and the aid of the Essex representative, to split the Republican party." The Kentucky gentleman here evidently confounded things which from their very nature are widely separated.—Boston Transcript.

OREGON.

McKay and his Indian braves will show at Salem this (Friday) evening.

A mass temperance convention will be held at Salem, Saturday, April 25th.

The friends of temperance are holding largely attended and interesting meetings in Oregon City.

The dwellers in Forest Grove are short of butter, and Portland is receiving her supply from California.

Several nice dwellings are to be erected and other substantial improvements made at Forest Grove the present season.

The funeral of Thomas Hubbard, at St. Paul's church, Marion county, was largely attended. The procession was three-quarters of a mile in length.

The Nehalem people want a school teacher for the summer at the Fish-hawk school house. Lady teacher preferred. Address W. A. Foster, or David Johnson, Astoria.

Luther P. Blanchard, or any one in Oregon knowing his whereabouts, will confer a favor by writing to Mrs. Phebe Blanchard, West Claremont, New Hampshire.

The Advocate says: Rev. I. D. Driver reports a powerful work of grace at Lake creek, Brownsville circuit. Six persons joined the church on Sabbath last, one of them by letter. Rev. P. M. Starr is pastor.

The Astorian of Thursday says: "Daniel Clark, Esq., Master of the Oregon State Grange, arrived here last Monday evening, accompanied by Hon. J. H. Douthitt, of Wasco, and proceeded to Clatsop on Tuesday, organizing a Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry there."

A new school house is to be built in the neighborhood known as "Egypt," in Washington county. Bids are given out for a one story building, 24x36 feet. It will be located near Dilley, and will take the place of the old school house in the vicinity of Mr. Flanders' and Shearer's neighborhood.

Val Fontis Lodge, I. O. G. T., will hold its seventh anniversary picnic in Spring Valley, six miles from Salem, on the 7th of next month. Timothy Ford, Esq., Grand Worthy Chief Templar of Oregon, is expected to be present and assist in the celebration, as will, also, other noted members of the order.

The Forest Grove Independent has this: "A man who represented that he took a part in the row raised by the crusaders in Portland last Saturday has made his appearance in the Grove. One of his hands was badly bruised. He said he was the man that threw one of Moffett's gongs into the river. Portland got too hot for him and he vamosed."

On last Tuesday morning burglars opened a window in Mr. James Brown's residence at Salem, says the Statesman, "taking a long pole, in the end of which was fastened a nail, drew a chair standing near his bed and on which his pants were lying, to the window within reach from the outside. This was done so quietly that the inmates of the room were not disturbed. The pants were then rifled of their contents, consisting of $6 10 coin and a silver watch, worth from $15 to $20, and a safe key. They were then dropped on the inside of the room, where they were found by the owner when he arose. The greatest loss sustained in the burglary was the loss of the safe key. This, however, was found in the yard next day, where it is supposed it was dropped by the burglars in making their escape."

At an adjourned meeting of the Pioneer and Historical Society, held in Astoria on the 8th inst., the report of the committee appointed at a previous meeting to draft an address to the people on the subject of the erection of a suitable monument to perpetuate the memory of Dr. Marcus Whitman, was adopted: Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, S. H. Smith; Vice President, R. W. Morrison; Secretary, Col. Jas. Taylor; Treasurer, A. VanDusen; Executive Board, John Hobson, James Welch, J. H. D. Gray, and D. Ingalls. Ten dollars were donated by the Society in aid of the monument being erected at Oregon City, in memory of the Pioneer Printer, John Flemming. It was moved and carried, that the Society hold a semi-annual meeting on the 4th day of July, 1874—due notice of the hour and place to be given by the Secretary; and on motion, the meeting adjourned until such time, unless sooner convened as provided by the Constitution.

The Record says: "A stabbing affray occurred a few miles from Silverton, on the Abiqua river, last Sunday evening, and which resulted in the stabbing of Anson Stanton by Ephraim Thurman. It seems that the two men had had some dealings together, and were talking of their settlement at the time mentioned. And during the conversation a dispute arose between them which ended in an encounter with the above result. Thurman had his pocket knife in his hand whittling a stick, while talking, and our informant says became abusive in his language toward Stanton. To this Stanton paid no attention until his abuse became unbearable, when he struck Thurman with his fist, who immediately began to use the knife which he held in his hand. Stanton received a severe cut on each side of the neck, one of which severed a blood vessel, one in the back, and another in his left side. Dr. Davis was called to dress the wounds of Stanton, and last evening gave it as his opinion that there was little or no chance for his recovery.

THE STATE TREASURER AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I learn authentically that I was mistaken in saying the duties of State Treasurer had been discharged during the present term by the Assistant Treasurer. I now find that the supposed assistant, Mr. Fleischman, has been but clerk, and that Mr. A. Schlussel, is the Assistant Treasurer. So, both the Treasurer, Mr. Fleischner, and the assistant have resided at Portland during the entire term, and the business of the State Treasury has been transacted by a clerk.

However, this error of mine does not affect the fact I wished to get before the next Legislature, that the office of Assistant State Treasurer is a wholly needless expense and should be abolished among the first acts of the coming Legislature. The fact that one man has performed the duties of the office of State Treasurer for the last four years, cannot be gainsaid. The Treasurer is elected and paid for that service, and it is a wasteful expenditure of the people's money to pay an assistant five or ten thousand (and it will not be many years under the existing law, till it will amount to the latter sum) dollars a year, when no assistant is needed.

A RAVING MANIAC.—A Chicago dispatch of April 6th says Jacob Butler, Vice President of the Marine bank, who left here a few days ago to visit some friends in Muscatine, Iowa, has become a raving maniac. He has been acting very strangely for several weeks, denouncing the officers of the bank and declaring he was ruined. Butler was a man of fine ability. He has been a member of the Iowa Legislature, a Judge of the Supreme Court and a prominent candidate for Congress.

THE LATE JUDGE HALL.—The Syracuse Journal says that there has been found in a memorandum book which the late Judge Hall opened on the day he entered Mr. Fillmore's office the following entry:

Clerk and student at law in M. Fillmore's office, Aurora. Motto—Integrity, industry, and persieverance will lead to honor, riches, and universal esteem. N. K. HALL.
JULY 4, 1829.

ANDY'S VIEWS.—Ex-President Johnson is here again, looking after that little matter of some seventy thousand dollars deposited in the bank of Cooke & Company when that firm were supposed to be as good as a gold mine. The ex-President, however, talks as freely as ever with his friends on public affairs, and gives it as his opinion that Congress has been and still is, in its financial expedients, "sowing the wind to reap the whirlwind."—Wash. Cor. N. Y. Herald.

RING JOURNALISM EXPOSED.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In the Weekly Bulletin of the 11th inst. is a correspondence headed "The Reform Sham at Salem," bearing date of April 5, 1874, and signed "Independent." If calumny, falsehood and cowardice entitle a man to this cognomen, we doff our "castor," and cheerfully award the title to the Bulletin's Salem correspondent.

But for "Independent's" evil disposition of heart in seeking to malign those against whom he entertains malice, we should not have devoted one moment to a refutation of what he says in the correspondence above referred to; for, are not the one hundred and two delegates of the Convention, about whose proceedings he so willingly falsifies, swift witnesses to his total want of veracity? Coward that he is, he takes a stand behind a fictitious name and the Bulletin's editor, and strikes as any other assassin. Hear him: "* * * and Jackson Jefferson Blevins was then placed in nomination for Sheriff. * * * Jackson Jefferson Blevins then 'shied his castor,' and mounted the rostrum, where he informed the Convention that he declined the nomination for Sheriff. He stated that he had sought several nominations, but had never run but once, and that was before the Sheriff of Marion county, for a distance of one thousand miles, when he was overtaken and brought back, and which campaign cost him the small sum of fifteen hundred dollars. The office of Sheriff, he declared, he had no use for whatever, and withdrew his name." Now, there is not one word of truth in all this twaddle. It requires no mental effort to fully comprehend the gist of "Independent's" insinuation. At whom he is striking, assassin-like, there is scarcely a man in Marion county but knows. How different he is from Tom Gerrand, the half-breed that shot Mr. Hubbard! Gerrand struck the fatal blow, face to face with his victim. He stands pre-eminently above the sniveling cur under consideration.

What have I done to "Independent" that he seeks to prejudice the public against me? Is he seeking to cast odium upon the Independent county ticket for Marion county by venting his spleen upon me through the columns of the Bulletin? Any other man in the county, perhaps, can stand the withdrawal of public patronage better than I. Will persecution never down? For seven long years I have been persecuted by a certain ring of this county. If "Independent" is a party to this ring, I do not know it. I judge, from his evasion of the truth, he is. I hope to have the pleasure of dissolving this ring in the crucible of truth ere long.

I demanded of the editor of the Bulletin the real name of "Independent." He refused to give it. All I say of "Independent" I say of him. My address is Newelsville, Marion county, Oregon.

Alias Jackson Jefferson Blevins.

FRIDAY MORNING APRIL 24 1874

LOUISIANA—TEXAS—ARKANSAS

For some days past the telegraph has been burdened with information in regard to difficulties in the State government of Arkansas, but it is impossible to gather the precise nature of the questions involved from the dispatches The papers containing the details have not arrived From the telegraphic reports it appears that the troubles are likely to be carried to the extent of actual hostilities Which of the contestants Brooks or Baxter is of right Governor of Arkansas seems to us to be a matter of secondary importance The most serious feature of the case, except to those immediately interested is in the fact that it should have gotten into this situation at all Following on the heels of similar scenes in Louisiana and Texas, differing only in the extent to which the resistance is carried this exhibition of lawlessness is sadly suggestive of the probability that portions, at least, of the South are still possessed by a popular sentiment ill suited to the demands of self government The only true basis of republican or representative government and the condition indispensable to the stability of American institutions is loyalty of the people to their laws So long as the sentiment of the community is strong enough to prevent persons defeated at the polls or in the Courts, from resorting to insurrection or an appeal to force so long there is little danger from any other source But when respect for law and love for good order are gone, nothing short of superior force will save the country from anarchy and ruin

THE SQUIRRED TERRIER WHINETH

Police Judge Denny is sensitive on the subject of his judicial backing and filling on the crusade question Any reference to that subject, no matter how delicately made, brings his little Honor to his feet instanter So touched was he at the allusion in the OREGONIAN to his judicial sinuosities, that he suffered his sensitiveness to get the better of his sense to the extent of injecting a whining appeal for sympathy into his remarks to the ladies at the time he sentenced them for the crime of singing and praying on the sidewalks. This gallant little knight-errant has been ill-used, and he flies to the ladies for redress "One of the newspapers of this city has seen fit to make some remarks concerning my conduct upon that occasion which I do not think is altogether just." So the judge on the bench pleaded his own cause before the defendants, instead of confining himself to the case at bar as a judge would have done who was not a poor pitiful pigmy So the Judge proved himself incapable of rising above the trimming, cringing politician and sniveling sycophant His business was to decide the case before him, but he must needs take the opportunity to unbosom himself and display his wounds, as a peddler his wares, before proceeding to discharge his duty The remarks of a certain newspaper is unjust, isn't they now? and wounded virtue raises its lamentation Denny's entire nature—moral and intellectual—is got up on an exact grade with his grammar

The Bulletin thinks the OREGONIAN is timid because it has not pursued the course of the Bulletin in regard to the crusaders. The Bulletin encouraged the crusade in every possible way till its editor was "seen" and then flopped over to the other side, while the OREGONIAN looking at the question calmly, and discussing it rationally, expressed its conviction of the impropriety of holding prayer meetings in saloons and on the sidewalks immediately after the crusade began We have never seen any reason to change our views then expressed On the contrary subsequent events have confirmed them But we fear nobody in the premises, and do not propose to be driven to play 'Tripe Fritz' and beat a gong for the saloon keepers on the one hand, nor on the other hand, to assume the role of Peter the Hermit, and preach the crusade The facts in connection with the movement are matters of news and will be as they have been fully reported

We suppose if a general average of legislative bodies in all the States were struck it would be found that the national Congress is as dignified and well behaved as any—the famous South Carolina legislature of last year not excepted This stirring observation has been suggested by a report of a debate in the New York Assembly April 7th A bill making an appropriation for the Saratoga monument was under discussion, when this pleasant colloquy occurred

Mr Houghton—Was the gentleman's grandfather a Hessian?

Mr Waehner—The gentleman gives me credit for having an ancestry—that is more than I can say for him.

Mr Houghton—My grandfather sir was wounded at the battle of Bunker Hill

Mr Waehner—Perhaps the gentleman's grandfather wore a red coat on that occasion

So long as members confine themselves to disputes concerning the color of their ancestors coats, the treasury of New York will be safe

"A party by the name of Johnson has been getting into trouble if the following announcement taken from the London Gazette English court paper means anything

'Notice is hereby given that the presentation of Mrs Johnson at Her Majesty's drawing room on Thursday the 26th of February last, took place through inadvertence

It is to be hoped that the innumerable family of Johnsons will resent this atrocious indignity with proper spirit What though it should appear that Mrs Johnson is a vulgar snob of the genus shoddy? What if that particular Mrs Johnson thus rudely advertised to the world did thrust herself upon royalty just when she wasn't most welcome? The ill bred Sovereigns of Europe must be taught a thing or two And on the Johnson family as we have remarked is the mighty task imposed

To-night, T F Campbell the People's candidate for Governor will meet Grover and Tolman—if there is any such a man as Tolman—at Ashland to discuss political questions Mr Campbell writes us that he intends to stick to the party hacks like a brother till the campaign is ended Grover will find he has not got Dolph to handle before he meets Campbell many times

At a session of the New England Methodist Episcopal Conference held in Boston April 9th it was voted that a special committee be appointed to arrange for a memorial discourse to be preached on the Sunday prior to July 4 1876

A CALIFORNIA JOURNAL ON OREGON POLITICS

We clip from the Sacramento Union of recent date the following which shows that that great journal has a correct appreciation of the situation of affairs in Oregon and at the same time contains some wholesome advice which the Independents will do well to heed

Some good men have been put in nomination this year by the Republican party of Oregon but the blow dealt it last year and the year before by the Mitchell [illegible] ring, into whose possession its working machinery had fallen has now all the appearances of a mortal one and it is probably not in the power of the best men in the State to save the party from rout and ruin at the coming June election A Governor State officers and Congressman are to be chosen this year. We are assured that the Democrats will support a full party ticket though it is also said that some of the most prominent members of the Democracy in years past are now trying to work themselves into the People's party with the view of securing nominations He this as it may the Independents are at last thoroughly organized and making preparations for a vigorous campaign with enthusiastic hopes of carrying the election and outvoting both the old parties Their cause is so clearly just and politic that all the arguments are on their side and nothing is needed but an intelligent presentation of them We congratulate them on the success of the movement so far as it has gone and assure them that notwithstanding a little treachery here last winter in the Legislature and some weakness without ripening into positive treason to the cause, the People's party was much stronger the day after the Legislature adjourned than it was the day that body was elected is stronger to day than it was on the 31st of March and growing in strength and popular confidence day by day in every county in the State The coalition that was begun to be formed in the Senate soon after the Legislature met and which is gradually becoming a recognized fact between the demagogues of the Democratic party and the rotten railroadized branch of the Republican party frightens none but fools and natural cowards and has no following among the body of the people It will have the good effect of dividing the political parties of California into two parties—the people the taxpayers on the one side and the railway and plundering venal demagogues on the other The formation of the Independent party in Oregon will have the same effect there at the next campaign But in this one if we do not mistake the character of the mass of the people of Oregon the Independents will be victorious and revolutionize the State The danger is not so much that they will be defeated as that demagogues taking advantage of the prestige and enthusiasm manifested by the Convention now in session at Salem will worm their way into the new party and secure undeserving nominations Let the Independents guard well this door and they are sure to reclaim Oregon from the foul hands into which its political affairs have fallen

There seems to be a difference of opinion between two eminent Roman Catholic authorities as to the right of good Catholics to join the order of Patrons of Husbandry The Archbishop of California it will be remembered has declared that the church canon which forbids connection with secret societies, seemed to him an effectual bar But the Pope if we may believe a Minnesota exchange, would permit every communicant to decide for himself A member of the Minnesota Legislature who is a Catholic recently applied to Bishop Grace for permission to join a Grange The Bishop referred him to the Pope, and the Pope replied that he was at liberty to enter the Order if he found nothing therein conflicting with his conscience or his creed

It is actually reported that LaDow is about to go forth in search of votes One of his friends in this city informs us that he will be on the stump in a few days and will rival the giant "struggles" of Grover till the election day LaDow's coming into the field is a good thing There is some prospect of entertainment ahead He and Dick together will be just about able to furnish amusement for Davenport which Dick alone is unable to do We may have to take back what we said about LaDow's being the Kelly of the campaign" We certainly shall if LaDow ventures to speak above his breath

The election of a Senator to succeed Hon Wm A Buckingham is the subject of a good deal of strife among the Democracy of Connecticut Up to the day of the recent election it was generally conceded that Barnum was the probable Senator, but it is now said that the contest will be between [illegible] Wheeler and Ingersoll The re-election of the latter as Governor will tell it is thought A Hartford correspondent of the New York Times thinks that Ingersoll will make a capable and trustworthy Senator

Gas (of all kinds) is cheap in Washington but Representative Leach of North Carolina thinks the illuminating article can be furnished cheaper even than the present cost He has accordingly introduced a bill authorizing the National Gas and Iron Company of Chicago to supply the public buildings and grounds and the city of Washington with gas at the rate of $1 50 for the Government and $1 75 for citizens per 1 000 feet

The New York Tribune tells a queer story about Prince Harry Genet who is generally believed to be consorting with a trade discovered by the junior Senator from Oregon—larking along the shores of Japan. It says that a prominent official of New York city told one of its reporters ten days ago that he had dined with Genet within a fortnight The Assistant District Attorney says he is certain that Genet is somewhere in the State

Science has been rebuked by a committee of average Congressmen who have reported adversely on the petition of Prof Powers the cloud compeller Prof P asked for an appropriation of ordnance and ammunition to enable him to test his theory that a rainfall can be produced by systematic discharges of heavy artillery The Government has no powder to spare Some of the war editors are yet looking toward Cuba

Oliver T Searing late Secretary of the Montauk Insurance Company of Brooklyn N Y squandered $10 000 of the Company's funds in the improvement of his taste for the fine arts He left for California a few days since and the Montauk Insurance Company offer for sale a large number of works of art curiosities and literary treasures articles of vertu etc at reduced prices

The House Committee on Agriculture unanimously recommend the passage of a resolution providing for the transmission through United States mails free of charge all seed cuttings and plants sent to any part of the United States by the Commissioner of Agriculture It is altogether improbable however that any such measure can pass both Houses of Congress

During the month of March the following payments were made by warrants on the national treasury Civil and miscellaneous $4 464 271 68 War $3 415 603 [illegible] Interior $3 476 045 46 Navy $1 963 881 72 —total $13 316 306 07 All these payments were exclusive of interest on the public debt

FACTS

Are Stubborn Things!!

IT IS A FACT

That BRADLEY, MARSH & CO. are now doing the leading Dry Goods business of Portland.

IT IS A FACT

That they sell Goods wonderfully cheap.

IT IS A FACT

That their facilities for purchasing cannot be excelled by any House on the Coast.

IT IS A FACT

That their Stock is now replete in every particular.

IT IS A FACT

That their DRESS DEPARTMENT for extent of variety and moderation in prices, is without a rival, even in the largest cities in America.

IT IS A FACT

That they sell all DOMESTIC GOODS at cost of importation.

IT IS A FACT

That Cash buyers can save 25 per cent by purchasing at their Store.

IT IS A FACT

That BRADLEY, MARSH & CO. are not impelled by the maddening crowds' ignoble strife to gain wealth for Wealth's sake, regardless of the means employed to compass that end. With contemplation's sober eye they can foresee, with regret, the baneful effects of this all-absorbing passion evinced even in our rulers, as shown by the recent attempt at inflation, and which but for the wise and manly course of our worthy President, would have inflicted disastrous consequences on the country. Their desire is to build up a business, the growth and magnitude of which shall be alike honorable to themselves and creditable to the intelligence of the enlightened community that patronizes them, and to whose best interests they are devoted.

OUR SMALL WOOLEN MILLS [illegible] heading of Woolen Mills of the Pacific Coast the San Francisco Bulletin of the [illegible] inst. says There are on the Pacific coast [illegible] woolen mills—eight in California and three in Oregon [illegible] Two in San Francisco one [illegible] San Jose [illegible] Marysville one at Stockton one at [illegible] Los Angeles [illegible] In Oregon [illegible] one at [illegible] Oregon City [illegible] Willamette [illegible] mill at [illegible] one at Brownsville They have in the aggregate 20 [illegible] spindles and 232 broad looms [illegible] The above paragraph [illegible] several misrepresentations which have either been [illegible] willfully [illegible] needless [illegible] are advertised [illegible] State [illegible] makes the statement a sufficient evidence of its [illegible] intelligent [illegible] motive [illegible] exception [illegible] proved [illegible] mate the [illegible] and enterprises of Oregon and the [illegible] paragraph only demonstrates the [illegible] policy pursued by them There are in the State of California eight woolen mills In Oregon there are six woolen mills one at Dallas [illegible] at Salem [illegible] Oregon City one at Brownsville and one [illegible] now in [illegible] The Mission and [illegible] City and [illegible] of California are the largest on the coast Next in size and capacity comes the [illegible] at Oregon City which is spoken of as a small one. From this it will be seen that there are six mills in California which are smaller than the one at Oregon City The latter mill started as a three set [illegible] but is now a seven set with 2,300 spindles and 24 broad looms Last year it used up 400,000 pounds of wool which was manufactured [illegible] was represented by 190,000 yards of cassimeres and 120 000 yards of flannels and of blankets The value of all these about $300 [illegible] There are 100 hands employed of which [illegible] are boys and girls and the [illegible] men The wages paid these in 1873 was $60 000 The buildings and machinery have cost $100 [illegible] The seven set is equivalent to nine set [illegible] ordinary machinery All the machinery [illegible] of the latest and finest patents and turns [illegible] work surpassed by no other mill on the coast Two premiums have been already awarded Jacobs Bros & Co for fine grades of [illegible] The Willamette Woolen Mills at Salem will compare with any of the six mills in California either in working capacity or the quality of fabrics manufactured This mill is the oldest on the Pacific coast having been established in 1857 It uses 400,000 pounds of wool yearly and pays $8,000 monthly for labor So much for our small woolen mill

CHASED AND CAPTURED—Some days ago a seaman deserted the French vessel Henri [illegible] and his whereabouts remained a mystery to the officers Diligent search was made for the fellow but unavailingly Deputy Marshal Williams obtained an inkling of the sailor's whereabouts and started quietly forth yesterday morning The fugitive it seems had taken up his quarters after leaving the vessel at the French Gardens some distance east of the city Williams arrived there about 11 o clock but the object of his visit appeared to have been correctly divined by the proprietor who feigned ignorance of the sailor and pretended that he could not speak a word of English But the Marshal suspicioned very strongly that the sailor was secreted somewhere about the house He pretended to start back for Portland but instead of doing so [illegible] himself in the timber behind the house It was not necessary to wait long Soon the deserter stole from the house and started across the field for the timber Chase was commenced and a lively race followed Williams proved too swift [illegible] and distanced the sailor After running nearly a mile he was overhauled He confessed [illegible] finding himself a prisoner Reluctantly he accompanied the officer to this city, and vows to the last that he will never leave the State on the ship from which he deserted even if he should be compelled to leap overboard in order to regain his liberty

PRECINCTS CONSOLIDATED—At the last term of the County Court the three precincts heretofore designated respectively Oregon Washington and Central were consolidated into one. The new precinct thus created is called Western Its boundaries are as follows

Commencing at the corner of [illegible] Park and A street thence east on A street to the [illegible] section of A and Seventh streets thence northerly to the center of Seventh street and extension thereof to a point where the same would intersect the north line of Jas Terwilliger's land claim then west on said north line to the northwest corner of said Terwilliger's land claim thence southerly on the west line of said land claim to the section line between sections 9 and 16, T 1 S 1 E thence west to [illegible] corner of said section [illegible] thence [illegible] to northwest corner section [illegible] T 1 S 1 E thence west to west line of county thence northerly on the county line to the south line of the land claim of J R French thence easterly along said claim [illegible] and continuation thereof to the west bank of the Willamette river thence southerly along said western bank to a point where the extension of East [illegible] street intersects the river thence south a[illegible] Park street to the place of beginning

PISTON ROD BROKEN—As the steamer Ajax was making her way up the river at 12 30 yesterday morning and reached a point about four miles below Kalama, suddenly the piston rod snapped [illegible] This left the steamer in a perfectly helpless condition Not another revolution of the propeller could be made and the steamer came to anchor at once Early yesterday morning a dispatch was transmitted to the city stating the reason of the detention The steamer Rescue was notified of the accident and proceeded without delay to the Ajax Most of the passengers and all the mails and express were transferred and brought to this city arriving here at 2 o clock P M Both the steamers [illegible] and Senator were sent down the river yesterday morning to tow the disabled vessel up They will probably arrive here some time this morning No other damage has been sustained by the Ajax except the breaking of the piston rod It is questionable whether a new piston of the dimensions required can be made here Should such be the case the Ajax will be compelled to lie over until the arrival of the next steamer from San Francisco

Our Woolen Mills"—Under the heading of "Woolen Mills of the Pacific Coast," the San Francisco Bulletin of the 16th inst. says: "There are on the Pacific coast 11 woolen mills—eight in California and three in Oregon, viz Two in San Francisco one at San Jose one at Marysville, one at Stockton one at Sacramento one at Los Angeles and one at Los Gatos In Oregon there is a small mill at Oregon City, one at Willamette and one at Brownsville They have in the aggregate 20,840 spindles and 232 broad looms." The above paragraph contains several misrepresentations which have either been made willfully or through ignorance It is wholly needless to state that the misrepresentations are adverse to the credit and enterprise of our State. The fact that a San Francisco paper makes the statement, is sufficient evidence of its inaccuracy, and will enable the intelligent reader to correctly impute the motive. The California press with a few exceptions allow no opportunity to pass unimproved where they can belittle and underestimate the resources and enterprises of Oregon, and the above paragraph only demonstrates the "eternal fitness" of the peculiar line of policy pursued by them There are in the State of California eight woolen mills In Oregon there are five woolen mills one at Dallas one at Salem one at Oregon City one at Brownsville and one at Phoenix There are but three mills now in active operation—those at Salem, Oregon City and Brownsville The Mission and Pioneer mills of California are the largest on the coast. Next in size and capacity comes the mill at Oregon City which is spoken of as "a small one." From this it will be seen that there are six mills in California which are smaller than the one at Oregon City The latter mill started as a three-set one but is now a seven set, with 2,300 spindles and 24 broad looms Last year it used up 500 000 pounds of wool which when manufactured, was represented by 130 000 yards of cassimeres and 120,000 yards of flannels and of blankets The value of all these is about $300 000 There are 100 hands employed of which 70 are boys and girls and thirty adults. The wages paid these in 1873 was $40,000. The buildings and machinery have cost $100 000 The seven set is equivalent to nine set of the ordinary machinery All the machinery is of the latest and finest patents and turns out work surpassed by no other mill on the coast Two premiums have been already awarded Jacobs Bros & Co, for fine grades of cassimeres The Willamette Woolen Mills at Salem will compare with any of the six mills in California, either in working capacity or the quality of fabrics manufactured This mill is the oldest on the Pacific coast having been established in 1857 It uses 400 000 pounds of wool yearly, and pays $8 000 monthly for labor So much for our "small woolen mills."

Chased and Captured—Some days ago a seaman deserted the French vessel Henry Sempe and his whereabouts remained a mystery to the officers. Diligent search was made for the fellow but unavailingly Deputy Marshal Williams obtained an inkling of the sailor's whereabouts, and started quietly forth yesterday morning The fugitive, it seems had taken up his quarters, after leaving the vessel at the French Gardens, some distance east of the city Williams arrived there about 11 o'clock, but the object of his visit appeared to have been correctly divined by the proprietor who feigned ignorance of the sailor, and pretended that he could not speak a word of English But the M[illegible] suspicioned very strongly that the sailor was secreted somewhere about the house. He pretended to start back for Portland, but instead of doing so, hid himself in the timber behind the house It was not necessary to wait long Soon the deserter issued from the house and started across the field for the timber Chase was immediately given, and a lively race followed Williams proved as swift-footed and distanced the sailor After running nearly a mile, he was overhauled. He [illegible] all on finding himself a prisoner [illegible] he accompanied the officer to this city and vows to the last that he will never see the State on the ship from which he deserted, even if he should be compelled to leap [illegible] in order to regain his liberty

Precincts Consolidated—At the last term of the County Court, the three precincts heretofore designated respectively Oregon Washington and Central, were consolidated into one. The new precinct thus created is called Western Its boundaries are as follows Commencing at the corner of East Park and I streets, thence east on A street to the intersection of A and Seventh streets thence northerly to the center of Seventh street and extension thereof to a point where the same would intersect the north line of Jas, Terwilliger's land claim thence west on said north line to the northwest corner of said Terwilliger's land claim, thence southerly on the west line of said land claim to the section line between sections 9 and 16, T 1 S 1 E, thence west to northwest corner of said section 16 thence south to northwest corner section 21 T 1 S, 1 E; thence west to west line of county thence northerly on the county line to the south line of the land claim of J R. French, thence easterly along said claim line and donation thereof to the west bank of the Willamette river, thence southerly along said western bank to a point where the extension of East Park street intersects the river thence north along East Park street to the place of beginning.

Piston Rod Broken—As the steamer Ajax was making her way up the river at 12 30 yesterday morning, and reached a point about [illegible] miles below Kalama, suddenly the piston rod snapped in twain This left the steamer in a perfectly helpless condition. Not another revolution of the propeller could be made and the steamer came to anchor at once. Early this morning, a dispatch was transmitted to this city stating the reason of the detention The steamer Rescue was notified of the accident and proceeded without delay to the Ajax. Most of the passengers, and all the mails and express were transferred and brought to this city arriving here at 2 o'clock P. M Both the steamers Shoo Fly and Senator were sent down the river yesterday morning to tow the disabled vessel up They will probably arrive here sometime this morning No other damage has been sustained by the Ajax except the breaking of the piston rod It is questionable whether a new piston of the dimensions required, can be made here. Should such be the case, the Ajax will be compelled to lie over until the arrival of the next steamer from San Francisco

A Poor Place.—Occasionally the remark has been made that Portland is a poor place for [illegible]. If that is true, how much poorer a locality Salt Lake must be for the practice of law By an exchange we learn that the statutes of Utah have the following sections "No person or persons employing counsel, in any courts of this Territory, shall be compelled by any process of law to pay the counsel so employed, for any services rendered as counsel before, or after or during the process of trial in the case. Section 5 of the same act provides that in any Court in this Territory the attorney in any cause whatever shall present all the facts in the case whether they are calculated to make against his client or not If or failing so to do the attorney is liable to fine imprisonment and expulsion from practice in any Court in the Territory In fact he is required to do his level best for both sides [illegible] is not a very brilliant prospect for briefless attorneys We opine that not many of our legal persons will have any desire to migrate thither

Caved In—Passing and repassing by the street cars over the deep excavation at the intersection of First and Stark streets jarred the earth so much as to cause a considerable portion of the bank to cave in early yesterday morning The portion of earth that became dislodged unsettled one end of the span on which the cars crossed and rendered it dangerous to pass The Superintendent of Streets immediately prevented the cars from crossing so that a short portage has to be made until the track can be put in a safe condition again A portion of the Stark street sewer was exposed by the cave, and several joints had to be taken up and placed down again In a few days it is hoped the cars will be making uninterrupted trips.

Resolutions of Indorsement—The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by Nonpareil Lodge No 86 I O G T April 22d 1874, which we have been requested to publish

Whereas The Christian ladies who have been earnestly engaged in the temperance reform in Portland were ignominiously incarcerated in the city jail therefore

Resolved That we deeply sympathize with these brave women in their martyrdom to the cause of temperance and further

Resolved That we heartily condemn the action and verdict of the jury in the matter and consider it prejudicial to the fair name of our city

Alarm of Fire—Last evening some of the household effects of a celestial resident of Second street between Alder and Morrison took fire by accident and before being discovered were burning fiercely Smoke was observed to be rolling out in great volumes from one of the windows and shouts of "Fire fire" ran from mouth to mouth Some one who discovered the presence of the fire sounded the bell on the Odd Fellows Hall and the alarm became general In a very few minutes all the Department were promptly on the scene but before the engines arrived the denizens of the rookery had extinguished the fire with buckets of water Damage very slight

Still at Work—The conviction of the five crusaders and the sentence imposed by the Police Judge, does not seem to deter in the least the ladies from visiting the saloons as they have been accustomed to do for several weeks past Yesterday a number of ladies, including several who were imprisoned were again on the streets, and during the course of the day visited numerous saloons

Go to Salem—Salemites will be gratified to learn that McKay Bros have determined to pay that town a visit before departing from the State The braves will take the train this morning for Salem They will appear at Reed's Opera House this evening for one night only To-morrow the company will return and take the outgoing steamer on Saturday

Delinquent Taxes—Persons who have neglected thus far to pay their taxes should reflect that it is high time they should "pungle" Delay only piles the costs up Very soon the list will be published and the next step will be to sell the property to pay the assessments due

The April Term—Next Monday the April term of the Circuit Court for Clackamas county will convene at Oregon City, Judge Upton presiding A full docket we learn, will be disposed of during the term

Severely Hurt—A little son of Mr Farrell fell from the roof of a new house on Stark street near Park yesterday He struck on his head and sustained severe injuries

BUSINESS NOTICES

See Hamburger's advertisement Ladies the opportunities are excellent to make purchases at this house Call now, while the chances are to be had

The firm of Emil Lowenstein & Co is no more Dissolution settles the matter Accounts unsettled must be closed by May 1st after which date legal means will be taken to collect the same

The boot and shoe trade is lively Opposition and low prices make it so It is really astonishing to see Capt Cahalin sell foot gear so low But he does it and that is all there is about it For further particulars inquire at the "Opposition Store" Glance over the ad

A wonderful change has taken place in the corner opposite Ladd & Tilton's Bank That enterprising firm, Bradley Marsh & Co have been here scarcely three months and in that brief period have made the old corner one of the most popular places in the city for the ladies to visit The store has undergone a magical change and to-day it presents an appearance for beauty and elegance unequalled by any similar establishment in Portland The elegant Emporium is crowded daily We account for this for two reasons viz They advertise largely and what they announce they carry out to the letter They do keep a plain line of goods and what store does not? When we say this we mean that not only do they keep a plain line of goods, but they have the very finest to be had in any market This firm imports direct and are enabled to sell at lower prices than any house they claim on the northern coast The ladies know just what is good and what is a moderate price for an article and while Bradley Marsh & Co keep selling at the prices set upon the goods offered selling will the ladies flock to their store The last steamer brings new goods The same will be opened to-day, and we advise the fair sex to call early and inspect the new arrivals Read the advertisement which appears this morning

THE STICKEEN MINES.

As there are a large number of people in this country who intend going to these mines or who have friends on their way there all news concerning them is a matter of interest The San Francisco Bulletin in a long article calls it "another British Columbia wild cat excitement" and says "There have been periodical gold mining excitements in the Stickeen river region—the scene of the present one—for the last twelve years but they have been invariably short lived for the simple reason there was nothing to sustain them. Current reports from Stickeen river are no more encouraging than those circulated about every previous mining excitement in that quarter The men whose names are mentioned in connection therewith are men whose names have been similarly associated with nearly every other wild cat excitement that has taken place in British Columbia during the last decade their statements must consequently be taken with considerable allowance Were the truth known there is probably as little cause as ever for the hub-bub just started about the wealth of these Cassiar-Stickeen mines

The Olympia Echo of the 23d inst says "A gentleman just down from the Dease creek, informs us that he regards that section as a great bilk and he believes the whole Stickeen excitement will prove to be a scheme gotten up by interested parties"

WILL THEY DO IT?

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

We are on the eve of another State election, and the solution of the above inquiry is one of great interest to be solved by the people of this State Will the electors of Oregon elect L F Grover Governor for the next four years?

Whatever may be the prospect or sentiment in favor of the present incumbent to the office of Governor again we feel in duty bound as fully and clearly as we can in this brief space to raise the voice of warning against such a calamity and ask the legal voters to well consider the matter before they cast their votes for Governor on the first Monday in June next for these reasons

It will be remembered by all and particularly those who have been unfortunate enough to have to pay the fiddler that the Legislature of 1870 which was largely Democratic passed an act entitled "an act to protect litigants" That act was approved by Governor Grover October 21 1870 and such was the necessity as we shall presently see that it took effect from and after its approval

As this article is intended to show the Governor's conduct in the premises permit us to remark before attempting to eliminate said act that in 1872 the Legislature whose political aspect had changed somewhat repealed the obnoxious law and that act was vetoed by his Honor for reasons which we will hereafter consider

In considering the act it will be altogether too cumbersome for this article to quote it at length We shall therefore content ourselves by referring to it in substance but at the same time recommend to all a careful perusal of the act and if they should find anything in it that they do not understand to take advice upon it that they may be thoroughly prepared to say if the act shall stand

Find the Litigant Act in Laws of 1870, pages 48 49 and 50 By the first section, it is provided that within six months of the act taking effect the Governor of the State shall designate by order filed with the Secretary of State one newspaper for every county in the State provided there be one published within the county if none be published in the county, then the Governor to designate a newspaper published in some other county, in which all judicial and legal advertising shall be done

Sections two and three prescribe the duties of the Secretary of State upon the receipt of the Governor's order as well as the manner in which the proprietors of the official organ shall qualify and their subsequent duties

Section three also prescribes that the designated organ shall be the only medium through which all judicial and legal advertisements for said county shall be published for the term for which the Governor has been elected thereafter all notices of whatever nature must in order to give them any legal effect be published in such newspaper Then follows an extraordinary penalty for non-compliance with the provisions of the Act

Section four relates to the duties of the Secretary of State and County Clerks in forwarding notices and certificates and filing of bonds and papers

In order to make assurance doubly sure section five prescribes that "All notices &c required prior to or during the course of any legal or judicial proceeding must be done through the designated organ provided, that the prices charged for such advertising shall not exceed for each square of twelve lines of nonpareil type two dollars and fifty cents for the first and one dollar for each subsequent insertion

With this law standing upon our statute book unrepealed, let us devote some time as to what consideration it is entitled to and without stopping to consider the many examples that might be given illustrating its oppressiveness upon litigants as well as those whose business require notice given by publication let one suffice Take for instance the half patented 8x13 sheet designated by his Excellency as the litigant organ for Grant county, and by reference to its columns now before us we find not less than one round dozen legal advertisements which are published at a cost of not less than twenty dollars on an average Think of a poor unfortunate litigant having to pay twenty five dollars cost for the publication of an ordinary summons, where without this infernal law it could be done for less than one-half Think of the poor man's estate that he has labored early and late to acquire for the comfort of himself and his family Scarcely is the last requiem sung for him until contribution is levied upon his estate for the benefit of some newspaper man whom a partisan Governor has designated under the litigant act as the official organ thus compelling those whose business require legal or judicial advertising to do it through a penny newspaper that has scarcely any circulation outside its own precinct in preference to a widely circulated medium and at a minimum double that for which the same amount of printing can be done

We charge upon the Legislature that passed that law and the Governor that approved it that it was done through a partisan spirit and for partisan purposes

And now will the legal electors of this State vote for a man to fill the highest office in the State when it is a notorious fact that when an already overtaxed people has so far triumphed as to elect to the Legislature a sufficient number of conscientious men who were willing and who so far as their acts were concerned did relieve the unfortunate from the burdens of such a law and from which they had already suffered for two years to have it vetoed by the Governor upon the pretext of vested rights just as though the merest school boy did not know that the same power that made the law had the right and authority to unmake it

One more thought upon this subject and we shall be done

In case of the non compliance of the publisher to publish all legal or judicial advertisements the Governor is made the sole arbiter and from whose decision there can be no appeal What remedy has the party wronged for a failure to publish notice if when submitted to the Governor he decides that the law has been substantially complied with and refuses to remove the publisher and designate some other newspaper as the legal organ? None whatever

Fearing that to enter upon any other act of the administration of which the people have just cause of complaint would extend this communication to an unreasonable length we must close hoping that through your indulgence we will be able to make ourselves heard upon all of them before the day of election

CONGRATULATION

You told the story of your love
  I heard as one who did not hear
Across the opening lips of hope
  Crept the slow finger of a fear

Against the kind deceit which hides
  From love's beginning all love's end
In thoughtful mood I boldly lift
  The honest trouble of a friend

You've chosen thus not thus indeed
  I would have chosen fate for you
And if you missed the possible
  And for the sweet had lost the true

If neath the perfect palm of love
  You might have knelt—in kneeling blest—
And if you chose instead to wear
  A little rose upon your breast,

If for the tidal wave of life
  Mistook a little ripple blue
While fathoms deep below your line
  The sea's best treasures sleep for you

Why then—what then? You've only missed
  A wealth your calm eyes never saw
Be fate and nature kind to you
  Yourself unto yourself your law

No Moses ever part for you
  The wonders of the deep's rich gloom?
Nor ever lead the dry sands o'er
  Into the long lost palm land's bloom!

Ah never never may you know
  For little waves trip merrily
And never never may you know
  For sweet the little roses be

And should my doubts and dreams be both
  Blindfold as dreams and doubts may be
Should love's unwisdom truer prove
  To you, than my wise fears to me

Since God's own purpose over ours
  Is folded softly like a wing
And love's best knowledge to love's self
  Must own, I know not anything!

Why then—ah then! Go you His ways
  Not mine His is the Summer sea,
On which the little waves shall trip,
  And His the little roses be

But if into one lot there came
  (As into one I haply knew)
The flower's scent, the forest's force
  The depth's reserve the ripple's hue

If it fell out to Heaven's mind
  To give one both the sweet and true—
Though heaven asked it back again—
  The lost lot I'd not change with you

—Miss Phelps in April Atlantic.

RETIREMENT OF AN ENGLISH JUDGE

The London Times of a recent date says "The Court of Exchequer Westminster, was yesterday occupied with cases in the Special Paper, and in the afternoon the Attorney General came into court at the head of the English Bar to say a few words of farewell to Sir Samuel Martin on his retirement from his judicial position The court was densely crowded, there being present many of the more eminent of the Queen's counsel, and a great assemblage of barristers and ladies Sir Samuel came into court supported by the Lord Chief Justice of England the Lord Chief Baron, Baron Pigott, Mr Justice Meller, Mr Justice Lush, and Baron Cleasby

When the Attorney General rose the whole assemblage did the like, and remained standing during the delivery of his speech and Sir Samuel's reply

The Attorney General said My Lords, I have to ask your permission to address a few words to Mr Baron Martin Baron Martin, my brethren of the Bar have gathered here to day, they have come, not because a Baron of this court is about to quit it—not because the senior member of the Judicial Bench is about to leave it—they are here to bear testimony to a public life of great value and virtue, and to show their estimation of much personal worth A quarter of a century has passed and gone since you first sat upon the Bench Those who were your associates at the Bar have for the most part passed away Some there are who still remain They are here to day mingling with the juniors of this term's creation and from one and all, from all within that range, comes the concurrent testimony I now place before you My Lord, they have recognized in you a Judge who has so read and administered the law that justice has ever been done. They have seen you guided by a single-minded purpose, which caused you careless alike of who was suitor or who was advocate, ever to be led to a right determination. Whether we have guided or reflected public opinion, our profession and the public have united with us in as sure and certain confidence that no object or end was yours but to administer true and substantial justice. My Lord, it would be false flattery to say that you were a Judge without faults, but when we saw them we ever traced them to the cause that you were to prone to lead mercy to that seat on which justice alone should be seen and thus knowing as we did, the goodness of your heart, believe me, my Lord, that with us, if ever error there has been in our bearing toward you, it was because in the appreciation of the man we almost forgot our consideration for the Judge. Years, my Lord, have brought the time of retirement to you. We are told that time has come upon you with regret, and that with memory and mind still unimpaired you would seek to linger in public life Believe me, my Lord that we fully share that regret with you. The choice has been your own, and we can do no more than follow you into that retirement with earnest hopes and wishes My Lord, these are our words of farewell to you We earnestly trust that in that retirement you will be sustained by being able to reflect upon a long life of public service and of private good, and may you also have secured to you that happiness which good men earn, and which we pray, my Lord may be given to you, and now, my Lord, farewell

Baron Martin said in reply, with a voice tremulous with emotion Mr Attorney General, I should be more or less than a man if I did not feel most deeply grateful for the very great honor you have done me I have been for upward of forty years publicly engaged in the practice and administration of the law, and open to the observation of all The remembrance that the Bar of England should have done me the honor upon my retirement (a retirement which has been forced upon me by a visitation of Providence) which you have just done me will remain to the last hour of my life a source of pride and gratification to me, and should be a source of pride and gratification to my descendants to the most remote posterity, for it is an honor which the wealth of the world could not purchase His lordship here was perfectly overcome by emotion, and said, I have only to wish you all success and happiness and bid you farewell

His learned brothers on the Bench took a kind and affectionate farewell of him, and Sir Samuel Martin retired but many years must pass away before his name will cease to be spoken and remembered in Westminster Hall "

A COLORED FOLKS' REVIVAL—The Springfield (Mass) Republican gives an account of the incidents attending a revival meeting at the Loring street church, in that city It says "As we entered the low, square kerosene lighted room, about 10 o clock, a brother was kneeling on the floor in prayer At first his voice could barely be heard, but as his slow thoughts came faster his voice rose he threw himself forward until his head touched the floor then backward, and leaping to his feet spun round like a top and shouted a torrent of incoherent ejaculations, while the congregation, in stentorian tones, chanted and moaned 'Go on, brother! Stir up the Lord! He'll hear you!' 'Go for Him!' etc Suddenly the prayer ceased In an instant a girl began to sing, and, with one accord the congregation flocked round her, shouting as a chorus, 'Hail O Hail! The Lord is coming pretty soon' Over and over they sung it, each time after a recitation, the favorite being 'Job he was a patient man and all the hills shall skip like lambs Hail, O! Hail, &c, the latter to the campaign tune of I'll bet my money on the bob tailed nag du da du-da, da Presently the principal singers began clapping their hands and in a moment the company burst into a rhythmic tramp, accompanied by the wildest contortions and clappings Another prayer followed, and wilder music broke forth, The sexton moved the settees took off the stove covers, and appeared to be getting ready for business The tune was a plantation melody this time and the words a medley chiefly a repetition of—

"The Lord am coming
  I hear his horses feet
Don't you hear them brother
  On the golden street"

In the midst of the chant a brother fell gasping on the floor but instead of helping him up, the whole audience crowded round singing and leaping twice as furiously as before The women caught the infection and three or four taking hold of each other would leap until all fell exhausted on the floor One girl actually became insane for the time, and jump she would and did, lifting two men who tried to hold her from the floor with every plunge The second hymn lasted twenty minutes by the clock, and the third was in progress at 11 40, the congregation not in the ring of singers standing on settees and watching the proceedings with bated breath

Wheat in Liverpool via mail advices from San Francisco 12s 3d@12s 6d for average California and 12s 8d@13s for club

Since our last review was written the telegraph brings word that the President has interposed his veto against the attempt to inflate the currency to the extent of forty four millions at least, if not one hundred millions and it is not likely that we shall be called upon to witness the results that it was predicted would follow the success of the measure There are but few men to be found in this community who do not approve the step taken by the President or who are not convinced that the country has about as much money as it would have had had the inflationists carried their point For the additional issue would have been only promises to pay money and not actual money, or an addition to the real wealth of the country

Our local money market is without important features not heretofore remarked the principal demand for loans coming more from those contemplating improvements than from those engaged in trade concerns Whatever call there is is met on the usual terms with a fair degree of readiness

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—During the entire week specially under review this product has maintained the utmost quiet and as we now have no foreign bound grain carrying vessel in port, nor any due exporters have no particular cause to urge the market Hence transactions are limited to a few lots which holders desire to work off and which are taken at buyers' figures Within the past week the California market has experienced no important fluctuation while that of Liverpool has advanced slightly. At present, advices from the latter do not indicate any great change before the incoming of the next crop We quote at $1 65@1 70 The next crop in our state is now assured beyond all possibilities if we except that of a very dry season which does not often happen in this State and we may reasonably hope to have a surplus of four million bushels and perhaps more for export

FLOUR—The stoppage of a number of our State mills and the running of others on short time taken together, with continued shipments, have reduced stocks here to a greater degree than before for some weeks, but still the supply is quite adequate to the demand Quotations are furnished by agents at $5 50@5 75 per bbl for standard brands of extra $5@5 25 for outside and good country brands $4 50@4 75 The local trade is brisk as usual

OATS—We have no means of knowing the amount yet held in the interior but are informed that considerable quantities are likely to be carried over the harvest. The receipts here while quite in proportion to the demand are not so great as a fortnight ago, and prices which have at several times shown a weakening tendency are still maintained at 50c per bushel The acreage sown this year in this valley will probably not be in excess of that of 1873.

BARLEY—Rather more is being grown this year than ever before in our State At present the supply is limited, being barely sufficient to answer the demands of the home trade We quote choice at $1 45 per cental.

FEED—As spring advances trade in this article grows active and stocks now in hand are ample for the supply of the current inquiry We renew our quotations though the market is weaker of $23 per ton for chops, middlings, etc. and $13 to $15 for bran—these figures include sacks

HAY—The supply is lighter, which accounts for prices being sustained at present figures, $12 50 to $13 for baled timothy and $11 to $12 for loose do Wild is dull at $8 to $9 per ton

POTATOES—The market is dull as shipments to California have fallen off the demand there being less brisk. Quotations to day for best varieties are 60@65c per bushel common, 50 to 55c

ONIONS—Since our last weekly review this product has very materially advanced, and no choice lots can now be purchased in this market The supply is not large The demand in San Francisco is active

APPLES—We note the arrival of a few lots but most are not of first quality specked lots being most abundant. For one or two varieties 75@90 cents ₶ box can be obtained but common loose from wagons sell at 50@60c

DRIED FRUIT—Trade is dull the demand being less brisk, owing to the fact that shipments East by rail have ceased from San Francisco To sell well Apples must be packed in neat packages or kegs sacked not being favored much When put up to suit 7 cents ₶ lb has been paid for Apples. Plums, with pits are not wanted, and pitless are quiet at 13@14c

BACON—In this staple there is not much activity, owing to the dull state of our usual markets of demand. The San Francisco market is dull and a decline there has checked shipments We quote good country cured Hams at 16 cents ₶ lb shoulders 9@10c Sides 11@11½c city cured being better known commands an advance but is scarce in the general market.

BUTTER—The supply of choice Oregon made being scarce a brisk demand exists for best quality for table use and receipt of California changes hands quickly at current rates The range of prices is from 17@30 cents ₶ lb according to quality and manner of packing

CHEESE—The market is scantily supplied with choice Oregon made for which 20 cents ₶ lb is freely offered by jobbers Best California about the same rate

EGGS—The supply is very large and prices have declined to 13@14 cents ₶ dozen some buyers only offering 12½c. The San Francisco market is quoted dull at 17c, by private dispatches

LARD—We remark the fact of large importations from the East, while Oregon made is scarce Good fresh in kegs is worth about as much as in tins quotations ranging from 13@14c ₶ lb

CHICKENS—This market is not very largely supplied, and choice lots find very quick sale at a good round figure The ruling rates for mixed lots of hens and roosters are $4@4 50 ₶ dozen fat hens are readily worth $5

BEEF CATTLE—The supply of choice to fill the demands of city butchers is not large and for such prices keep well up to 7c ₶ lb on foot but common, which are poor, change hands at a reduction on that figure of 1@2c The prices are likely to be slightly above the average of former years this summer

MUTTON SHEEP—The arrivals are not in proportion to the local demand and prices range according to condition from $3 50 to $4 50 ₶ head

DRESSED HOGS—The season is over, and quotations nominal at 6 to 7c ₶ lb

TALLOW—Some shipments made to San Francisco have been unprofitable and the market is duller. We quote at $6 ₶ 100 lbs

HIDES—Trade has been active for some time past and receipts during April so far have been very large. Prices remain at our last quotations

WOOL—There is no activity in our home market, though there is some speculation concerning the future of the market Buyers express a determination to rule dirty and burry lots out as far as possible The opening price for the spring clip will probably be 22 to 23c ₶ lb for choice quality For the best of the fall clip of which but very little is offering 25c ₶ lb could be obtained

Shipping Intelligence.

PLATFORM

Of the Independent People of Oregon.

Resolved 1 That extravagance and corruption have become so prevalent in the administration of the affairs of this State and nation as to burden the people with taxes that are not necessary to good government, make politics a trade and debauch the morals of society that there is no ground to hope for a remedy for these evils through the agency of the two political parties that have heretofore ruled the country and that the welfare of the people demands that every citizen laying aside all party prejudices and bitterness of opinion on immaterial points unite in selecting for the public service men who will exert their efforts to secure public economy and reduction of taxation in every practicable way

2 That we view with alarm the reckless course of the State and National governments in the multiplication of offices [illegible] the requirement of the public service and [illegible] whom while receiving salaries from the public treasury are [illegible] themselves to their private pursuit and we [illegible] that such officers [illegible] the government give their time exclusively to the service for which they are appointed

3 That we favor the adoption by the National and State Governments of efficient wise measures for securing cheap transportation and to this end we favor liberal aid from the General Government for the opening and improvement of our harbors and rivers for the construction of the Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad the completion of the Oregon and California Railway to the southern line of the State and the extension of the Oregon Central Railway to Junction City That the interests of the State demand the completion of the Oregon Central Railway to Astoria. That we favor such aid as may be consistent with prudence and public economy for the construction of roads across our mountain barriers. And we favor the immediate construction of a wagon road along the south bank of the Columbia river from the mouth of Sandy to The Dalles

4 That all property rights and individual and corporate should be subject to the law that we would give all proper aid and encouragement and protection to corporations [illegible] companies or persons engaged in transportation commerce or any other legitimate pursuit but we would hold all subject to law and we demand that the rates of freight and fare on railways within the State be fixed by the Legislature of the State and on inter State railways by Congress

5 That we demand a return to the salaries fixed by the Constitution for State officers and we condemn all the schemes that have been devised to increase such salaries by indirection That the compensation of all officers should be only such as would pay them fairly for the services they perform that County Clerks and Sheriffs should have salaries fixed by law according to their services that the law increasing their fees should be repealed and a law enacted providing reasonable fees to be charged by them in cases where private parties alone are concerned such fees to be paid by the officers into the County Treasury That we demand the passage of a law to protect the public against increase able charges for the State printing.

6 That we favor a liberal system of public schools but we condemn the act creating a monopoly in the sale of school books and demand its repeal

7 That we demand the repeal of the Litigant printing law

8 That we demand equal rights for all citizens and accord special privileges to none.

9 That the interests of the people demand competition in the transportation of freights to and from our seaboard that we are opposed to the purchase or leasing, by the State of the Canals and Locks at the falls of the Willamette but would hold both the State and the Lock Company to a strict compliance with their existing contract

10 That we especially condemn those acts of the Legislature that have enabled speculators to obtain the public lands of the State in large tracts to the exclusion of poor men and men of moderate means who would take them for homes

11 That the removal of a faithful and competent officer merely because of his political opinions is a gross abuse of power That the use of the appointing power to reward politicians for services in conventions and elections is no less corrupt than any other species of bribery That the removal of faithful public officers for the conscientious performances of their duties is an outrage upon good government

12 That personal character is the proper criterion by which to judge of the fitness of men for public position and it is dangerous to entrust the public business to men of disreputable private character

13 That the General Government should pay all the expenses losses and damages necessarily arising from its course of dealing with the Indians and we demand that our fellow citizens in Eastern and Southern Oregon be indemnified by the Government for their losses and damages in the Modoc war

14 That we are in favor of such legislation on the subject of the liquor traffic as will allow each precinct to decide by a vote of the citizens thereof whether liquor shall be sold in that precinct or not and which shall make the venders of intoxicating drink responsible for damages which may be done by the abuse of that privilege where sale is permitted

15 That the uprising of the agricultural classes and their organization into a compact society for mutual protection against the extortions of oppressive monopolies commends itself to the favor of every just mind and cannot but result in ultimate good to the whole people

THE BULLETIN'S LYING ABOUT PRO[illegible] CAMPBELL

MONMOUTH April 22 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In the Daily Bulletin of April 20th we find quite a singular article over the signature of [illegible] voter, which has caused no little stir in our little village Various conjectures are expressed relative to who was the author of the infamous production I will say, however that there are serious doubts whether the author was really a voter or not, some having entertained the opinion that it was some spirit of the damned However this spirit or dreamer would confer a very great favor upon the citizens of this place to make itself known and stop it possible further watch for the singular monster We propose as a reward for the sight of such a being that he just name the time and place where he may be found and charge therefor any reasonable fee for admission We will guarantee his fortune made for we consider the great Atlantic cable, or Prof Wise's baloon or the Siamese twins in the way of curiosities would sink in the sea of oblivion in comparison with a being that could tell so many lies in such a short space The citizens of this place pronounce the whole thing a malicious slander and a lie made from whole cloth and as far as Prof Campbell preaching politics here in the late war we venture the assertion that no man could have gathered information enough from his sermons to know that there ever was a rebellion in America

The citizens of this place did not desire his nomination as Governor, I am frank to admit from the simple fact that they wished him to remain here and take care of the college which he has [illegible] for years past I will say Mr Editor that we will have a [illegible] ing to [illegible] and if the strange spirit makes its appearance we will let you know at the earliest opportunity

Yours in hope of the right J W R.
